Accelerate the internationalisation of your life sciences innovations: Join Boost4Health!

Explore international growth by crossing borders

Boost4Health provides practical and financial support to small and medium-sized enterprises who wish to explore their international growth potential. If you wish to increase your international network, find expertise abroad and validate your products in another market: join Boost4Health!

Would you like to learn more or join Boost4Health? Visit the Boost4Health website or get in touch with the partner in your region.

Boost4Health enables small and medium-sized enterprises to bring their life sciences innovations to foreign markets by providing:

- Coaching
- Financial support
- Matchmaking
- International experts

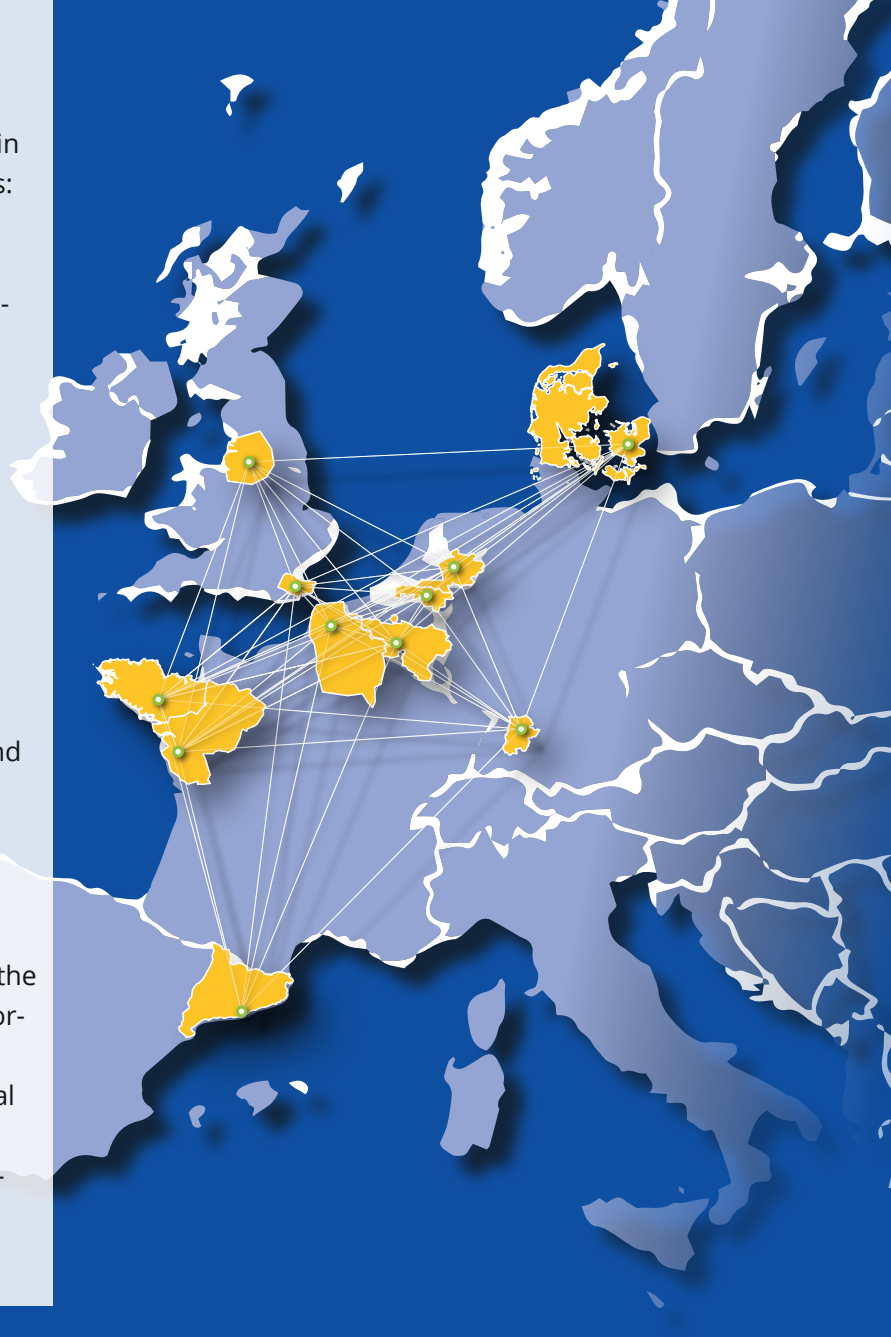

The life sciences industry is playing a key role in solving one of today's main societal challenges: high quality, efficient healthcare for everyone. The potential market for proven, innovative products within North West Europe is substantial but finding your way in unknown territory can be a challenge.

Access to 11 regions in 7 countries

11 leading business support organisations in 7 countries across Europe have joined forces to help small and medium-sized life sciences enterprises to accelerate their international growth. By sharing expertise and networks, and providing practical and financial support, the Boost4Health community will be able to help businesses expand into new markets within North West Europe.

Thanks to Interreg NWE and regional funding the Boost4Health programme offers you the opportunity to apply for coaching and/or financial support. Are you ready to explore international growth by crossing borders or do you want to contribute to the programme with your expertise or resources?

Coaching

Expand to a new market or finding a partner abroad can help your business grow. Boost4Health offers you the opportunity to take that step and discover how you can benefit from foreign Boost4Health regions in North-West Europe. Boost4Health partners can offer tailored coaching and guide you to convert the decision to internationalise into a clear strategy. Our coaches can help you find insight on:

- Business model development
- Presentation to investors (pitch training)
- Collaboration across borders
- Country specific rules and regulations

(Coaching might vary per region)

Financial support

Boost4Health financial support can be the incentive you need to access international opportunities. All you have to do is complete a simple form to apply for one of the Boost4Health vouchers.

Travel vouchers

If you wish to visit experts or events abroad you can apply for travel vouchers. If your application is successful, travel costs will be reimbursed (up to €500) to your company after the trip.

Internationalisation vouchers

If you would like to move forward with the internationalisation of your innovation Boost4Health offers two kinds of vouchers:

- Market expertise vouchers (up to €3.000) to explore a new market and,
- Product validation vouchers (up to €5.000) which can cover technical advice, prototyping, demonstration, regulatory support, usability validation or scaling-up.

Matchmaking

Get in touch with service providers and experts abroad

Boost4Health encourages you to expand your business within North-West Europe and establish collaborations in partner regions. To help you find the right partner, service provider, or validation site all Boost4Health partners have shared their contacts. You can search our online database or visit a matchmaking event.

Service provider database

If you are looking for a specific service or expert abroad you can search the Boost4Health service provider database. Once you found what you were looking for Boost4Health can offer guidance and financial support to establish a collaboration.

Visit a matchmaking event

Expand your network at our international matchmaking events which will be organized in close collaboration with prominent life sciences events in the partner regions. These will enable you to make the most of your visit and meet European life sciences companies and experts face to face. Check our events page to find upcoming events.

How to get support from Boost4Health
